Lydia Weld Is First Woman Naval Architect

BY ROSALIND SHARPE

"I'm not the aggressive type", Lydia Weld said. "I might have gotten farther if I had been. My work was just a hobby, a way of occupying time".

So spoke the first woman ever to graduate from a school of engineering in the United States, a woman who contributed notably to the war effort in both World War I and World War II, a woman who, in between wars, was a successful rancher and won innumerable blue and purple ribbons, a woman who has been anything but inactive since her retirement to Carmel in 1943 and is presently preoccupied with the Right to Work campaign.

She will be 80 years old in March.

Lydia Weld stumbled into her career partly by accident but largely to spite a professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where she was the only female student and the first to ever be accepted at any engineering school. She learned only recently that she had been the first woman to graduate in engineering in this country (1903), and that in so doing had broken all precedents. One wonders if she might not have been the first woman to graduate in engineering in the world. Miss Weld has no idea.

She grew up on Cape Cod, but her family went south every winter, so she never attended school but was taught by governesses. Her main talent lay in mathematics. When she reached college age she took the examinations for Bryn Mawr like the rest of the girls and passed, but that summer some of the boys suggested, "Since you're so good in math, why don't you try M.I.T?"

She thought, "Why not?" And since Bryn Mawr entrance examinations were accepted at M.I.T., she got in.

At M.I.T. there were 13 courses, but in the first year everyone took the same subjects. In the second year they had to decide which course they were going to take. She settled on marine engineering because she thought the drawing might be interesting, but had no intention of taking the whole course. However, the head of the department seemed determined to keep her out of it. He went out of his way to discourage her. He told her she would have to take 180 hours of chipping and forging, and so on and so forth. This raised her dander.

"I thought, 'I'll take it just to spite you'," she said.

And so she did.

She also took locomotive design along with mechanical engineering. Some time after graduation her professor put her name up for membership in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and she was accepted.

After her graduation from M.I.T., Miss Weld went to work for the Newport News Shipbuilding Company where she remained for 14 years, a Naval architect through the end of the first World War. Her description of shipbuilding in those days is amazing to modern ears. For example, there was no electricity so the men had to work by candlelight. Rivetters down in the hold (there was no welding at that time, either) had to work by candlelight, and "the shipyard bought candles by the carload".

As a woman and the first of her species to appear in any shipyard she was something of an anomaly.

Artist, Photographer Take Last Shot Of Bettie Greene Stable

Max Hodges is tearing down the former Bettie Greene stable buildings at Junipero and Fifth Streets to clear the site for a motel planned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Schultz. The prospective Schultz building was considered by Carmel Planning Commissioners for a year and a half before plans met with their complete approval.

Last evening a local artist was making a water color painting of the picturesque ramshackle stable buildings before they were demolished, reports Francis Whitaker from his catercorner Forge in the Forest location, and this morning a photographer was taking pictures of the stables before they become just a Carmel memory.

Mr. Hodges, in charge of the stable demolition, ironically, is coproprietor with his father, Lynn Hodges, of the only riding stables still existing in the immediate vicinity of Carmel.

New Committee Streamlines City Planners' Work

A steering committee added to the three basic Carmel planning commission committees (land use, architectural matters and public improvements) will facilitate processing of building applications is the hope expressed by commissioners meeting in study session yesterday afternoon.

At present business district new construction, re-modelling, and alteration applications are processed by the three basic committees and reports presented at regular meetings. Because considerations of each committee must be observed in relation to the others, much time is consumed while these reports are discussed. The new steering committee "clearing agency", made up of a member of each of the three basic committees, will receive reports from the separate committees and evaluate each in relation to the total site plan before the planning commission meets in business session.

The planned steering committee will "streamline the proceedings of the commission during business sessions — now laboring under an unnecessary burden of procedural instructions" and "ease the administrative problems for departments serving the Commission," according to the proposed amendments to the rules of procedure presented to Carmel Planning Commissioners for study by City Clerk Larry Rose yesterday afternoon.

Total evaluation of the site plan by the steering committee will be presented for commission action in a tabulated report. Each aspect of the site plan will be stated on this steering committee report and commission action will be brief in business sessions.

The steering committee will also reduce the content and length of resolutions, thus diminishing the volume of paper now in use and help with record keeping. It will, by rotating members, relieve work loads of the planning commissioners and broaden their experience. Also persons appearing before the commission will not be compelled to deal with so many groups and individuals. This is a particular problem of architects, builders and owners proposing new construction. Preliminary study of plans by commissioners will also be reduced by establishment of the steering committee clearing house procedure.

Planning commissioners in study session yesterday afternoon asked that their recommendations for sign control in the business district be presented for their consideration at next week's regular com-

Right To Work Is Not An Issue In The Election Of Councilmen

On the same ballot in the April 8 city election with the names of the six candidates for the two council vacancies, there will be an initiative measure for a right to work ordinance for Carmel. You will vote for two councilmen and vote on the right to work ordinance at the same time, but neither have any bearing on the other, regardless of any sentiments the candidates may have on right to work or the sentiments of their sponsors.

If the right to work initiative passes in the election, it becomes the law. The newly elected councilmen, even if they were strongly liberal, would not be able to do anything about it. They can't repeal it, if they could get three holdover councilmen to agree, because the ordinance voted by the people can be repealed only by the people.

If the right to work initiative fails, no sane councilmen would propose to pass a right to work ordinance by councilar action, even if they believed in it, when the voters had clearly expressed their disapproval. And it takes more than two to pass an ordinance. The three hold-over council members showed their disinclination to pass a right to work ordinance when they were petitioned informally by some 1000 citizens to do so.

Right to work is not an issue in electing councilmen on April 8, but it can be an emotional factor, and this is a danger that must be avoided. To select your councilmen because of their right to work or anti-right to work sentiments, or the sentiments of their sponsors, rather than of their ability and experience, their record of past performance in the community, accomplishes nothing for or against right to work and can have serious results for the city.

You will have a practical, effective, sensible way of expressing your feelings on right to work when you vote on the initiative measure. Do not let it muddle your judgment in choosing your council members. Four years is a long time. During that period your city will face issues of lasting importance that can change the character of the community. You will need the best councilmen you can get, and your best judgment in selecting them.

Drifters Club Drifts -- 7 Hours

The Drifters Club of the Carmel-by-the-Sea Volunteer Fire Department went on their annual salmon fishing trip out of Moss Landing after the Volunteers' yearly dinner dance on Saturday evening.

Their brand new boat, named the Dorado, owned by the famous seafaring captain, Frank Putnam, had trouble at sea, and, after seven hours of drifting, was towed into port by the U.S. Coast Guard boat operating out of Monterey.

According to members of the Drifters Club, this experience does not daunt them in the least and next year they will again venture out to sea.

Drifters Club members are Jim Kelsey, John Hudelson, Jake May, Chuck Grimshaw, Maurice Grimshaw and Captain Frank Putnam.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE MEETING

The citizens' advisory committee to the school district board will meet tonight at 8:00 o'clock in the high school library to assign a corps of new workers to sub committees, to promote the school bonds and over-ride tax in the April 22 election. Ninety citizens have been invited to attend and serve.

The Committee to Study Effect on Carmel of annexation of the Unincorporated Districts will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at city hall. This is an open meeting and interested citizens are invited to attend.

Though the straw vote in the unincorporated area went 60-40 percent against annexation, Mayor John Chitwood says he believes Carmel citizens should have the facts on costs and other affects of annexation, if and when the matter comes up again.

KING CITY MUSTANGS AT CARMEL GYM FRIDAY NIGHT

Coach Rowland Dickey brings King City cagers to the Carmel gym this Friday night and is hopeful that his charges can continue the fine play which upset the favored Pacific Grove quintet last weekend. The Mustangs have had a rocky season so far but appear to be on the upgrade after a morale-boosting win over the Breakers. Carmel handled the King City club rather easily in the first round of play and should get the job done again tomorrow night. Coach Yurkovich is high on the improved play of the Carmel lads and is anxious to stretch the Padre win streak to five straight. Good drive, accurate outside shooting, and a quick-handed defense make the Padres tough to handle if the opponents aren't topflight ballhandlers. The Padre varsity will open action with a starting unit of Bill Hicks, Art Wilkerson, Frank Wallace, Dale Dawson, and Dennis Peavey. Peavey appears to be the most improved player on the varsity squad and is rated by opposing coaches as one of the best guards in the league. Jeff Smith, Andy Gray, and Phil Durbrow give the Padres good reserve strength for the fourth-quarter stretch drive.

Carmel's lightweight squad won a close decision over the King City Ponies in the first meeting between the two clubs and tomorrow night's game is a touch-and-go affair with the decision likely to go to the team which hustles the most. The lightweight fracas is slated for a 7:00 o'clock starting time with the varsities taking over at 8:15.

11th ANNUAL CARMEL HOOP TOURNAMENT SLATED FOR MARCH 6, 7, AND 8

Carmel High's Annual Invitational Basketball Tourney which is always loaded with thrilling games, outstanding hoop stars, and examples of fine sportmanship is set to tip-off at 4:30 on the 6th of March with Pacific Grove and Monterey answering the referee's whistle for the initial tussle. The second game on opening night matches Ron Beliecki's fine Junipero Memorial squad against the Gonzales Spartans. Fremont High, 1957 Tournament Champions and possessors of the coveted Ferrante Perpetual Trophy, hits the boards in the 7:30 game, matching baskets with this year's CCAL B-division champions, Gilroy High. Host Carmel plays the final game on Thursday night, tipping off against Coach Jerry Hedlind's swift Gustine Indians. Tournament play continues on March 7 and 8 with losers meeting losers and winners meeting winners on Friday night and the big playoff for third-place, consolation championship, and tourney championship slated for Saturday night.

Coach Ed Larsh's Monterey Toreadors appear to have the best chance to snatch the championship away from Ray Snyder's Fremont Indians who have copped the tourney title for the past two years. The Indians enter this years tourney with a team untried in tournament competition and may find the going rough against the likes of Monterey, Gilroy, and Junipero. Some of the best hoop prospects in Northern California will match baskets in the Carmel cage festival when Glenn Cooper, (Gonzales), Dick Smith, (Gilroy), Mel Sory, (Monterey), Dale Dawson (Carmel), Larry Lotten (Junipero), and Mel Salas (Gustine) start burning the nets at the Carmel High Gym.

Several college basketball coaches have indicated they will be at the Carmel Tournament to look over future prospects for higher education. All five of Fremont's championship club are playing college basketball this season with Bub Bowling, most valuable player of tournament, leading the Stanford freshmen to a good season.

CARMEL CAGERS DOUBLE-TEAM SAN LORENZO; SPLIT WITH LIVE OAK

In a busy weekend of league basketball play, the Carmel High hoop squads posted a double win over the San Lorenzo Valley Cougars and divided a twin-bill with the Live Oak Acorns from Morgan Hill. The fast-improving Carmel varsity clipped the Cougars, 60-50, and came back on Saturday night to post a 42-31 victory over the Acorns. Carmel's lightweight squad evened the score with the Little Cougars by copping a 34-29 decision in the return match but dropped a close 32-31 decision to the league champions from Live Oak.

Coach Dan Yurkovich's surging varsity is now riding a four-game win streak after disposing of San Lorenzo and Live Oak and is currently the hottest team in the B-division of the CCAL. Both San Lorenzo and Live Oak beat the Padre heavies rather badly in the first round but neither team was in the game in the second outing. With four of the five starters hitting in double figures, the Big Padres had little trouble with the pesky Cougars in Friday night's clash. Dale Dawson (16), Dennis Peavey (15), Frank Wallace (14), and Bill Hicks (10) were swishing the nets at better than 50% average and riddled the close-knit Cougar zone defense. Dennis Peavey was by far the outstanding floor player for the Padres, making numerous steals while on defense and setting up scoring plays for his mates. Bob Vessey and Bill Donlevy were the big point-makers for the visiting varsity, hitting 17 and 16 respectively.

Carmel's lightweight squad came with a rush in the final period to avenge an earlier defeat at the hands of the Cougar Babes. A tight defensive job put a blanket over Gerry Chandler, Cougar lightweight ace who banged in 31 points in the first meeting, and forced the visitors to rely on rebounds and free throws for their points. Russ Wise (9), Walt Helm (8), and John Doud (7) paced the Little Padres in the scoring department while Dave Farr and Mike Draper were defensive standouts.

Carmel's varsity avenged an earlier humiliating defeat at the hands of the Live Oak heavies by thoroughly outplaying the visitors from Morgan Hill. Splendid defensive play by Frank Wallace, Dennis Peavey, and Bill Hicks shackled the vaunted Live Oak offense and made the going easy for the win-hungry Padres. Carmel broke in front, 14 to 2, in the first quarter and were never seriously threatened thereafter. Dale Dawson's 11-point scoring effort topped the Carmel point-makers and he was closely followed by Frank Wallace's 9 and Bill Hicks' 7. The win over Live Oak gives the Padre varsity a 5-5 record for league play this season and sets them up for a valiant effort against King City and Hollister.

Live Oak's lightweight team, losers of only one game this season, was forced to the limit to eke out a one-point win over the hustling Padre Babes. Behind the fine shooting of Russ Wise (16) and David Farr (8), the Little Padres were in the game all the way and were leading the champions, 17 to 14, at the half. Behind by 3 points with less than a minute to play, Russ Wise put the Padres within reach of victory by stealing an Acorn pass and driving home for a lay-up. With 4 seconds to play, the Padrecitos had possession at the midcourt out-of-bounds spot but lost a scoring opportunity on a fine steal by Live Oak's Mits Nishihara.

Single-game action for the Padres this weekend with King City visiting the Carmel pavilion Friday night. Next Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, the Salinas Cowboys bring three teams to Carmel for a triple-header. Junior-varsity action at 4:00, lightweights at 5:00, and a varsity tilt at 6:15.

Surf n' Sand Hold Formal Opening This Week End

This weekend the Surf n' Sand drug and liquor store will hold a formal opening, with prizes to be given away, plus toys for the youngsters. Comstock Associates were designers and builders for the premises which adjoin the Pilot Market at the rear of the parking lot used by customers of both stores.

A modern and fully equipped prescription pharmacy is a feature of the new drug store. Robert Steinmetz, a graduate of the University of California Medical Center, is the manager of the prescription department. He will be assisted by John Barron, another pharmacist of many years experience.

A full line of drugs, magazines, and related merchandise will be stocked. The Surf n' Sand also is offering a wide range of imported and domestic cosmetic and perfume lines, many of them internationally known.

Paul Chedester and Robert Aebersold, co-owners of the Surf n' Sand, both are Carmel residents. Bob Aebersold and his wife, Marilyn, live in La Loma Terrace, in the home they own there, with their four children: Sandra, 10; Gary, 7; Susan, 5, and Christopher who was born last month. The two older children attend Sunset and Woods schools respectively.

Paul and Ethyl Chedester, and their two daughters, live on Morse Drive, in the house they have owned for a number of years. Patricia Chedester is employed at the Stock Exchange in San Francisco, while her sister, Connie, attends Carmel High.

What is your Dollar worth?

According to the latest reports, your dollar is worth only a little more than 49 cents. That won't buy you much in the way of food, clothing or many of the other essentials of life.

But it will provide a great deal of water service—about 2000 gallons worth. That's a bargain you just can't beat these days.

Our dollar, also, is worth less than half its value of a few years ago.

When we purchase equipment or construct new facilities, we must pay more than double the price for the same value.

We are thankful that under these circumstances we are able to supply water at our present low rates.

Progressive Jazz Poetry Recital At Carmel Craft Studios

On February 28, Carmel will be introduced to a "new" art form—the much-discussed movement of the moment combining progressive jazz and poetry. On that evening at the Carmel Craft Studios poet Kenneth Ford will read his own and others' poems to an accompaniment of jazz provided by the Carmel Jazz Quartet. Alan Kay heads the group, comprised of local, and on this occasion, some Bay Area musicians. A door charge of 75c will be asked. All are invited and no reservations are required. Kenneth Ford is the author of The Clean Dying, a book of poetry published in 1956. In Ralph Gleason's Jazz Anthology, the poet's work also appears. "The idea back of the jazz-poetry movement is not to have the music behind the poet, but to have the poetry and music combine in a new art form," Kenneth Ford explains. In San Francisco the movement has gained considerable attention, extending to mention in national magazines.

Robert MacKenzies Open Delicatessen

The Village Delicatessen, offering ready-cooked, home style foods, now is in operation at the corner of San Carlos and Fifth Avenue, opposite the Carmel Post Office. Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacKenzie, both with extensive experience in the hotel and restaurant fields, are the owners. The Village Delicatessen will feature meat pies, cold meats, salads, a line of gourmet tinned goods and related delicatessen specialties. A catering service also will be available.

Robert MacKenzie was chef at Highlands Inn and at Watsonville's Loma Linda dinner club for a number of years. Most recently he and Mrs. MacKenzie operated the employees' cafeteria at the Sears Roebuck store on Geary Boulevard, San Francisco. There from twelve, to fourteen hundred persons were served each day.

The MacKenzies, with a lifetime in the culinary arts behind them, moved back to Carmel from San Francisco last August to retire. After a few months of resting and relaxing they felt the urge to have some activity. The Village Delicatessen is the result. The MacKenzie's son, Steven, 16, is a sophomore at Carmel High.

$100 PRIZE FOR IDENTIFYING MYSTERY PLANTS

A cash award of $100 will be given again this year to the first person correctly identifying four Mystery Plants at the fifth annual Carmel Valley Wildflower Festival on April 19, according to Clyde Robin, wildflower botanist and festival advisor.

Arranging for the event, to be held in Tularcitos School Auditorium, are Richard Wenzlik, in charge of fair concessions; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cartwright, publicity, promotion and advertising; George Campbell and Benjamin Viljoen, house and display plans; Mrs. George Wright Jr. and Art Bennett, advance ticket sales; Mrs. Richard Wenzlik, wildflower collectors; botanist-advisor Robin and coordinator the Reverend William W. Eastburn.

FATHER JOSEPH HANLY

A week of prayer and explanation of Catholic belief and practice will be held at the Old Mission at Carmel, Monsignor O'Connell has announced. The series will begin on Sunday, February 23 and continue until February 28. Father Joseph Hanly of the Paulist Fathers will conduct the series.

A native of New Jersey, Father Hanly graduated from St. Charles College in Catonsville, Maryland. He entered the novitiate of the Paulists in his home state and completed his studies in philosophy and theology at St. Paul's College at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. Since his ordination Father Hanly has been active in parish work, instruction work, and lecturing at State Colleges in California and Washington on the teachings of the Catholic Church.

"It is fitting that such a week should be set aside at this Mission. For it is here that Father Serra set up the headquarters from which he hoped to evangelize the territory of California and bring the light of the Christian gospel to its inhabitants. It is fitting that a Paulist Father should conduct such a week. They celebrate this year a hundred years of existence as the first native religious community of men in the United States. Founded by five converts to the Church, they give their lives, and splendidly so, to explaining the faith to our fellow Non-Catholic Americans. We hope that Father Serra will look with favor upon this endeavor which, after all, is but a continuation of his work in this land," said Monsignor O'Connell.

Monsignor O'Connell invites all, whatever may be their race or creed, to join in these prayers for the unity of the faith.

Cinderella Shop Fashion Show For Scholarship Fund

Based on a theme of Fashion on a New Plane, The Cinderella Shop will present a fashion show-luncheon Thursday at La Playa Hotel. With spring fashions provided by the Ocean Avenue dress shop, the event will be sponsored by the Lighthouse Keepers' Club, on behalf of the organization's scholarship fund, proceeds to go to a deserving Monterey Peninsula student. Tickets are obtainable at The Cinderella Shop, Carmel.

"We have taken our theme, Fashion on a New Plane, from the January issue of Harper's Bazaar," said Mrs. Helen Lightner Dean, owner of The Cinderella Shop. "The cover suit, a David Crystal model of orlon and wool, will be one of many models to be shown, stressing an entirely new silhouette."

Time of the luncheon will be 12:30 p.m.

Isaac Stern Finds Dogs Harder To Please Than People

"Is there anything you would like better?" violinist Isaac Stern asked Eben Whittlesey's Seeing Eye dog, Comet, on Saturday evening after a seemingly disapproving "Woof! woof!" was Comet's comment on an encore announced by Mr. Stern.

When Comet gave no answer to his query, Isaac Stern, wryly, said, "Well, I've met all sorts of music critics," and bravely played the encore which concluded his Music Society performance.

Mr. Whittlesey (who writes the Music Society Concert reviews for the Pine Cone) says he has been forced to take Comet to concerts since the Verdi Requiem several weeks ago when he left her in a car and she chewed her way out the window, jumped to the ground and into the custody of a policeman, who, concerned over the cut foot Comet received in her break for freedom, searched out Mr. Whittlesey in the Sunset School Auditorium audience.

Continued applause such as Mr. Stern received on Saturday evening excites Comet, says Mr. Whittlesey, and she feels she must make some contribution to the general excitement, "and she generally brings down the house."

State Park Comm. Meets In Monterey On Castle Policy

The State Park Commission meets in Monterey tomorrow to discuss recommendations as to operating procedures for the Hearst-San Simon State Historical Monument. Tentative plans, according to Newton B. Drury, chief of the State Division of Beaches and Parks, are for a two hour guided tour of the grounds and castle, including a round trip bus ride from the State parking lot on Highway 1. The Park Commission will be asked to approve a $2.00 admission charge for adults and $1.00 for children six to 12 years old for this service. The Monument is expected to be open to the public about May 17 until October 15.

Chamber Music Concert March 2

The third season of the Carmel Chamber Music Society will open March 2 at 5:00 o'clock in its new location at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre.

A letter was recently mailed to a list of musically minded people on the Peninsula asking for an expression of interest in the continuance of concerts of chamber music. The result was fine support and many contributions from patrons and season sponsor members.

Under the direction of the executive committee consisting of Gilbert Boyer, director; Michel MacKay, business manager; Joseph Axup and Lloyd Clapper, a season of four concerts is planned.

The first program of pre-baroque will include rarely-heard works for brass quartet and octet by Gabrieli and early Italian composers of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. The group will play the Concerto Grosso No. 12 for chamber orchestra and concertina group by Handel and the Handel oboe concerto in G minor with Lloyd Clapper, Monterey oboist, as the soloist, accompanied by the Carmel Chamber Orchestra consisting of Jerald Slavich, Eiko Yoshizato, Elisabeth Duval, David Hageemeyer, Harold Nicholas, Norma Del Chiaro, and Charlotte Perry, violins; Lorell McCann and Marie Sale, violas; Mary Dobel and Louise Friedhofer-Vadetsky, cellos; Edwin Culver, contrabass and Lydia Bader, piano.

The program will conclude with the celebrated first concerto of J. S. Bach for Klavier and String Orchestra with Gilbert Boyer as piano soloist.

GEORGE BESTOR HONORED

Carmel civil engineer and land surveyor, George C. Bestor, recently received notification from Washington, D.C., that he had been elected National vice-president of the American Congress on Surveying and Mapping. This professional society in surveying and cartography has more than 4000 members, not only in this country, but in 42 foreign countries.

Until now, national officers of the Congress have usually been officials of the various governmental mapping agencies and almost invariably from the East Coast. This is only the second time that a national officer has been chosen from the West Coast, although Charles A. Wooldridge, Jr., of Pebble Beach, served as a national director two years ago.

Earlier this month Bestor was additionally honored by being elected president of the California Council of Civil Engineers and Land Surveyors, the state association of private firms engaged in these fields.

A graduate of the University of Minnesota and a Peninsula resident for over 18 years, Bestor maintains engineering and surveying offices in Carmel.

LARKIN HOUSE OFFICIALLY STATE PROPERTY TOMORROW

Mrs. Harry W. Toulmin, who now makes her home in Santa Barbara, is spending this week in Monterey, where on Friday she will officially turn her historic adobe home Larkin House over to the State. Thursday evening she will entertain with a dinner party at the Cypress Point Club for friends who will journey to the Peninsula to attend the Friday ceremonies.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

A flavorsome book laid in Sacramento in 1912 is entitled Sacramento Waltz. It seems there were three women living there then. One was a widow looking for a husband, the second was a robust young woman looking for adventure, the third was a tiny music teacher who was just looking at the first two women. Their adventures make an amusing story you should not miss. It was by Elva Williams.

Mr. Pepys of Seething Lane is by Cecil Abernethy and is a fictionized account of the life of Diarist Samuel Pepys. It gives us a fascinating picture of the times and of the troubled life of Mr. Pepys. The author is a professor of English at Birmingham-Southern College.

This business of buying insurance is a problem with most of us and a new book by Ralph Hendershot might give us some of the answers. It is called The Grim Truth About Life Insurance. Read it before you invest in life insurance and you might decide to purchase an entirely different type of policy.

Prescription for Survival is composed of four essays which were given by Brock Chisholm as the Bampton Lectures at Columbia University. The four titles are The Prospect Before Us, Tomorrow's Children, The United Nations, and finally Imagination As the Tool of Reality. Dr. Chisholm argues that hitherto human behavior has always been characterized by aggression, conflict, and war. Now that man has within his own hands the means of annihilation, he must change his patterns of behavior and thinking.

Lillian Borgeson has written a Home Aquarium Handbook. This new how-to-do-it book lists several hundred aquarium fishes, giving size, coloring, and habits. It gives instruction for the new fish-fancier and much advice on how large an aquarium to buy and how to furnish it to be the happy home of a group of house-type fish.

Even the pictures are hilarious on Joe E. Brown's Laughter Is a Wonderful Thing. This one you will enjoy. It's the story of the life of the famous comedian, told by himself, as only he could tell it.

Two new mysteries this week. One is The Pub Crawler by Procter, and the other is "Gideon's Night by Creasy.

And if you are having trouble making the dog in your life to behave, we have Training You to Train Your Dog. It isn't a new book, but it's as good in its field as they come, and we thought it might prove helpful.

When you have an information problem—try the library. We just might come up with the answer.

"Stitchery" At Town House

By Kippy Stuart

Did you ever hear such an intriguing title? Yet this particular "Stitchery", means far more than nimble fingers and needle and thread, for Stitchery takes its place among the great in the Allied Arts.

Town House is fortunate in having for a member Mrs. Paul Rockey, widow of Doctor Paul Rockey, for many years an outstanding surgeon in Portland Oregon. When Mrs. Rockey decided to make her home in Carmel, she brought with her knowledge of this old-new art and has inspired many of her new Carmel friends to take up this interesting work.

Mrs. Rockey's classes at Town House, for all manner of needlework and designing, are held on Wednesdays from 10.00 to 12:00 o'clock in the mornings. It is a delightful sight to watch the art work progressing right under one's eyes. One member is designing and executing sleeve embroidery for her Easter frock; another is learning the almost lost art of smocking. A new blouse, plain and simple, can be changed into a thing of beauty by decorative smocking or embroidery.

I have seen a set of stunning living room draperies made out of inexpensive drapery material, turned into objects of art by stenciling. Mrs. Rockey has executed these draperies herself in a leaf motif arabesque, in gold leaf. This very gifted lady is also expert in the art of weaving and bead work on sweaters, guiding her pupils in exotic designs of their own choosing. She is also a water color painter of note.

This would almost seem to be enough artistic ability for one woman, yet Mrs. Rockey goes on and on, in the art world, where she is a recognized personality. In the Portland public schools, where Mrs. Rockey taught her art work, credit was given her pupils in her classes toward their graduate credits.

One of the things that Mrs. Rockey emphasizes to her pupils is what she calls "Busy-work". Small pieces of embroidery, blouses to be decorated that can be taken right along on a journey to while away the tedium of travel.

An invitation is extended to those interested in acquainting themselves with the several types of artistic work guided and directed by Mrs. Paul Rockey at the Carmel Foundation Town House.

TOWN HOUSE TAX TALK

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Tostevin, public accountants in Carmel since 1942, will talk on Preparation of Income Tax Returns for Retired People at Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Following their talk, Mr. and Mrs. Tostevin will answer questions from the audience. The public is invited. Tea will be served.

The exhibit of paintings by Emily Melcher Graves will end February 28.

Regular activities at Town House include: French conversation with Mrs. Marie Healey on Mondays from 11:00 to 12:00 o'clock; German conversation with Dr. Paul Tobias Mondays 1:00 to 2:00; painting in the studio Tuesday afternoons with Miss Donna Davis as instructor; weaving, stencilling and stitchery Wednesday from 10:00 to 12:00 with Mrs. Paul Rockey.

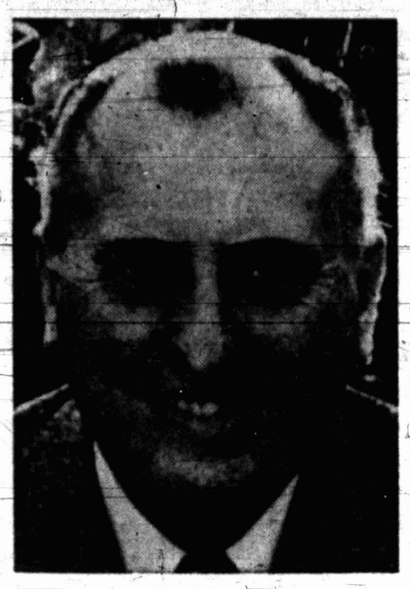
WHALES MIGRATING NORTH

Carmel's unofficial whale spotter, Abbott Silva, was able to cry, "Thar' she blows," last week as he saw two groups of whales pass Carmel on their annual trek from southern to northern waters. This week he reports no activities, "too much fresh water on their backs when they surface," he says.



Robert Stanton, Carmel architect, will be chairman of the golf tournament and also serve as "gourmet consultant" at the Contractors Convention when it meets in Monterey April 24, 25 and 26.

The convention is expected to attract 400 construction industry men and their wives, whose host will be the Central California Chapter, Associated General Contractors. The golf tournament will be at Del Monte on Friday, April 25, followed by a Friday evening "fish fry" at Old Fisherman's Wharf. Saturday night there will be a dinner-dance in Convention Hall.

New World Affairs Series Starts Friday

The Geography and Cultures of Southeast Asia will be discussed by Dr. James J. Parsons of the University of California Friday evening in the opening meeting of a study series on Southeast Asia and the Pacific Islands. The meeting will be open to the public without charge, and will be held in the cafeteria of Carmel high school at 8:00 o'clock. It is under the joint sponsorship of the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula and the Carmel Adult School, and is the first of a series of eight lectures arranged by Fletcher Dutton, study series chairman of the local council. Four meetings of the new series will be open to the public, and four will be for council members only. Membership blanks may be obtained at the Friday meeting, or from Robert Ricklefs, membership chairman, by phoning MA 4-7861. The series will conclude on June 13, and all meetings after the opening one are scheduled for the second and fourth Friday evenings of the month.

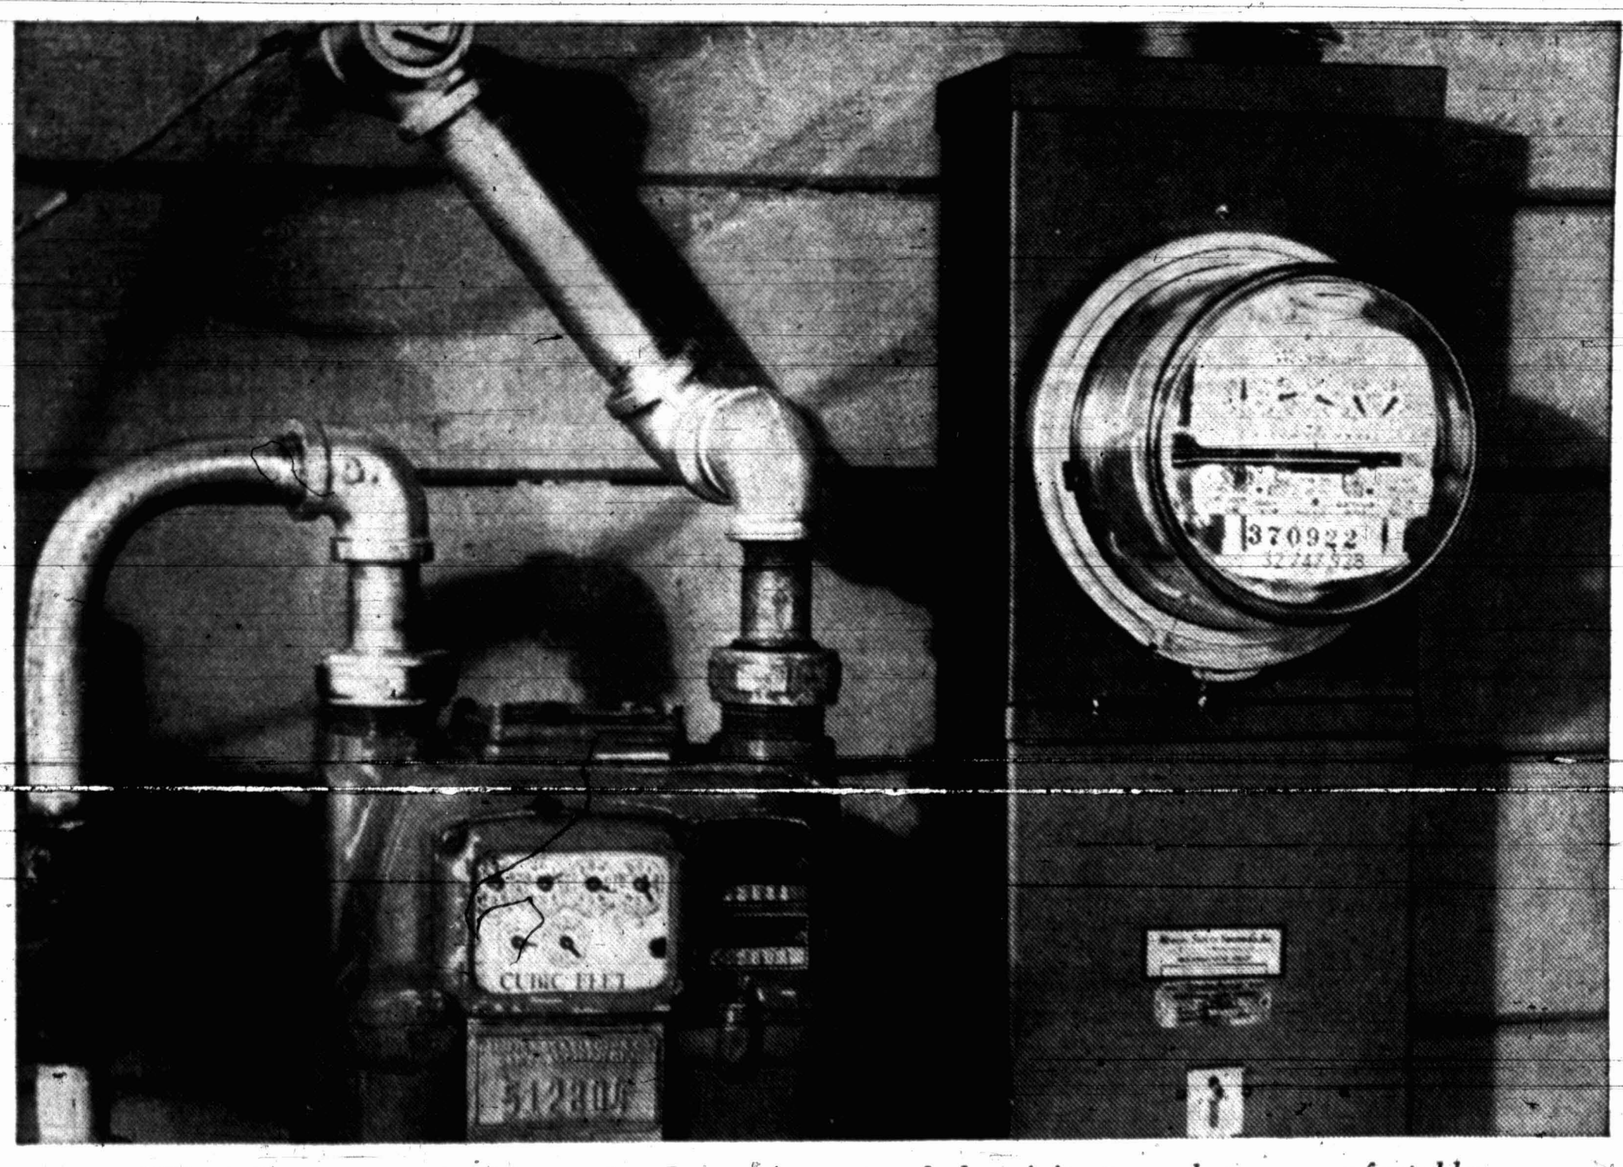
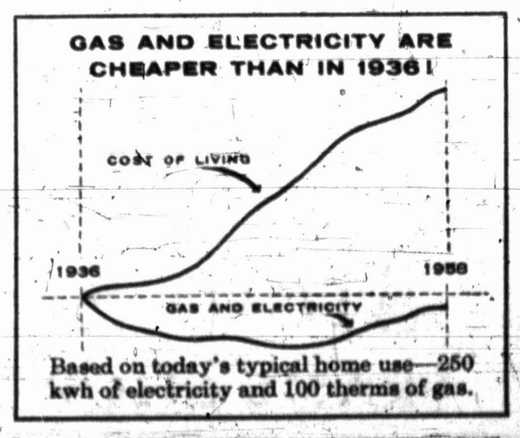
Your meters make pretty good thermometers



When the temperature drops, it takes more gas and electricity to make you comfortable. That's why your P. G. and E. bill is higher this time of year.

Anyone who reads gas and electric meters has a pretty accurate record of this winter's temperatures. Cold weather and long nights mean more heat, more lights . . . more work for most all your appliances.

But two things help take the sting out of your winter bills: P. G. and E. rates are lower than in 1936 . . . and your unit cost of gas and electricity goes down as your use increases.



Based on today's typical home use—250 kwh of electricity and 100 therms of gas.

Isaac Stern Concert

BY EBEN WHITLESEY

There is so much competition in the concert field today, so many striving for pre-eminence, that even the greatest artists exhibit marks of conscious showmanship. Often it seems that musical quality alone is not enough. Not so with Isaac Stern. His performance Saturday evening was unusual for two reasons other than its artistic excellence. First of all, there was unusual prominence given in the program selections to the work of the pianist. Alexander Zakin discharged his assignment brilliantly and in perfect balance with the violinist. Secondly, one felt that Mr. Stern submerged himself wholly in his music. The music spoke through him, rather than he through the music.

Schubert's Sonatina in D Major gave the evening a gracious mellow opening. The interpretation was flowing, yet restrained. Even the softest tones of the violin were not obscured by the piano, so effective was the accompaniment. The gay third movement was lighthearted and free, the artist expertly avoiding a staccato quality. I like my Schubert dry but warm, and that is how it sounded.

Beethoven's Sonata in C minor Opus 30, No. 2 provided a fine opportunity for Mr. Zakin, especially in the first movement. The violin was full of warmth as well as brilliance. In the thoughtful adagio canabile Mr. Stern achieved a feeling of ease and perfect control of tone that relaxed the listener. Even the sparkling third movement brought the piano much to the fore, yet without undue dominance. Beethoven demands such effective and clean attack that one is apt to become too conscious of this feature of an artist's technique. Here I realized that I was not made aware of Stern's attack as such. Tones sang from his strings as though evoked rather than drawn by the bow. Often a violinist will seem to bite off his notes so that you can hear each one begin. In many ways one felt an effortless mastery; the mastery that comes only with the most intensive effort on the part of a most gifted artist. The brilliant, fiery finale of the Beethoven brought us to intermission on a note of high achievement.

Prokofieff's Sonata in D major, Op. 94, is another pianistic work providing a rigorous test for the violinist. Warmth and beauty of tone were Mr. Stern's characteristics, even in the most staccato passages. He maintained tonal purity and clarity of phrase throughout the most rapid passages. Most of all, there was a fine sincerity that is often lacking in the interpretation of contemporary composers.

The violinist submerged himself completely in his music. Mr. Stern seems not to strive for a large tone, but it is remarkably clear and fine. His playing seems devoid of the sort of decoration and emphasis that displays the artist rather than the music.

The finale of the Prokofieff brought cheers from the audience.

Bloch's Nigun provided a note of emotional warmth and broad sweeps of color, played with pleasing restraint. Chant de Roxane by Szymanowski provided glittering glissandos and finely controlled whispers. As a closing number we heard the brilliant Tzigane by Ravel, followed by two encores, a zestful dance by Milhaud and a restful Haydn adagio. On the whole, a thoroughly satisfying concert.

Dial M Proves To Be Suspenseful Drama Well Performed

By Patricia Hall

Do you like suspense? Then see Dial M for Murder currently showing week ends at the Players Circle.

Compared with the movie of the same name, every non-essential word has been cut, every unnecessary bit of acting eliminated and suspense is better for it. From the moment the lights go on and the thesis is quickly presented on through to the dramatic and final fade out, your interest is gripped.

Charlotte Perry is to be congratulated on her very fine direction; each of the players for the excellent reading of their lines. Their articulation was perfect. Even the off-stage voices.

The acting was so uniformly good, it is difficult to award orchids, though Rosamond Beck-Meyer's appealing young voice tugged at your heart and helped you sympathize with her in the tragic situation in which she found herself.

Besides Rosamond, the cast consists of Gene Eplett, well remembered for many fine past performances; Lloyd Jenkins who gave a smooth and finished performance as the scoundrelly husband; Paul Coleman seen for the first time at the Players Circle. Paul, previously seen at the Wharf Theater as Captain Iron Belly in South Pacific and other productions, made a believable Captain Lesgate. Errol Allan, the husband in Candida, was a quietly menacing Inspector Hubbard. Cecil Haskell and Kit Jones completed the cast.

TRUCKS OF MANY TALENTS—how they help us do a more efficient job in bringing you good telephone service

Behind your phone calls roll a host of trucks. Special telephone trucks. Their job: To save phone men valuable working hours as they expand and improve your service. In the top picture are two of the dozens of different kinds of phone trucks you might see any day in your town. A ladder truck, front, easily helps a phone man like Jim O'Neil put the finishing touches on a new overhead cable. Or the huge straddle truck behind it helps us shift heavy cable reels as if they were doughnuts. These trucks of many talents do big jobs faster than ever before. They do them better than ever before. All told, they help us do a more efficient job in bringing you the good phone service you've come to expect.

Working together to serve you better . . . .

The men and women of Pacific Telephone

The Honorable Goodwin J. Knight, Governor of California, will be the featured speaker at the Business and Professional Women's Club dinner on Civil Defense being planned above by Mrs. Eunice Nichels, president of Monterey Peninsula BPWC, with the assistance of Mrs. Phyllis Howard, president of Carmel BPWC; Mrs. Patti Underwood, Seaside BPWC president; and Mrs. Dorothy Berry, Pacific Grove BPWC president.

The dinner is to be in the Bali Room of the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School on February 28. Governor Knight is bringing from Sacramento a panel of Civil Defense experts to take part in the evening's discussion. A cocktail hour starting at 6:30 o'clock precedes the dinner at 7:30 o'clock. Tickets are not available at the door the night of the dinner but may be obtained in Carmel at Carmel Cleaners, the Red Cross Chapter House and Holiday Inn. The dinner and panel discussion are open to the public and are sponsored by Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club with the assistance of other BPWC clubs in this area under their National Security and Health and Safety projects.

CAMILLA WILLIAMS FOR CONCERT ASSOCIATION

Camilla Williams, Negro soprano, will be presented in concert on Monday evening by the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association at 8:15 o'clock in Pacific Grove High School Auditorium. She has been leading soprano for the New York City Opera for over four years and as a concert singer has captivated two continents from Venezuela to Northern Alaska. Her solo singing with orchestras has been publicly praised by Stokowski. Her career has justified the enthusiasm with which Geraldine Farrar hailed her operatic debut in 1946.

To California

a glass of beer is many things

California Street in San Francisco—a scene as familiar to most of us as a light, bright glass of beer. More and more people in California are enjoying beer—it fits in so well with our outdoor living. Beer also contributes a great deal to California's economy. Last year the Brewing Industry paid over $16 million in California taxes. Our State treasury spent over $18 million on public health last year. Obviously the Brewing Industry's share of taxes nearly met our public health expenses.

Robin, Wendy Home

Robin and Wendy Burnham flew home from New York in time for Robin to resume her studies at the University of California this semester and Wendy to start the second semester at Santa Catalina School for Girls. They have been travelling in Europe with their mother, Mrs. A. Carol McKenney, Dr. McKenney and Gray Burnham since September.

Dr. McKenney and Gray will drive back to Carmel in the Jaguar they bought abroad as soon as the recent heavy snowfall in the East permits. Mrs. McKenney plans to return by train. Everyone will be back here by March 10.

Michael Makes Six

Michael Daniel Sullivan, born on Lincoln's Birthday in the Peninsula Community Hospital, is Mr. and Mrs. Brendan Sullivan's sixth child. He weighed nine and a half pounds at birth. Michael's brothers and sisters are Elizabeth, 14, Margaret, 10, Brendan, eight, Katherine, six, and Tommy, three years old. The Sullivans moved to Carmel Valley a little over a year ago. Mr. Sullivan is associated with Talbot Inc., tie manufacturing firm. Michael's grandmothers are Mrs. Michael E. Sullivan and Mrs. Arthur D. Mullin, both of New Haven, Connecticut.

Murphys Have Two Sons

Seven pounds, 15 ounces was the birth weight of Brook Chandler Murphy born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on February 6. He has a brother, Kevin, three years old. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Murphy, came to Carmel to live five months ago from San Antonio, Texas, when Mr. Murphy was released from Army service. He is now a psychologist working with the Human Research Unit at the Presidio. Brook's grandparents are the Reverend and Mrs. John Orange of Chariton, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Murphy Sr. of Des Moines, Iowa.

Glenn Clairmonte In Barbados

"Yes, it's glorious here," writes New Yorker Glenn Clairmonte on the back of a picture postcard of Crane Beach, St. Phillip, Barbados. "But I'm still smitten with Carmel." Then she adds, "Just on a winter vacation." This is a little out of order, since former Carmelite Clairmonte has not yet reported on her summer vacation—a canoe and hiking trip in the wilds of the east.

Pvt. Fenn Asigned To 6211th

Private Donnelly M. Fenn has been assigned to the 6211th Army Reserve Unit's information office at Fort Ord as information specialist. He recently completed his six months' active duty tour at the Presidio of San Francisco as a member of the information section. Pvt. Fenn is a Carmel resident associated with the Drive-In Market, and his wife, Louise, is a music teacher at Sunset School. He is a graduate of Polytechnical High in Long Beach and Occidental College in Los Angeles.

Woman's Club Bible Garden Talk

In the Bible aspen trees are called mulberries, almonds are called hazel trees and apricots are known as apples. Mrs. Walter Burde will tell the Carmel Woman's Club at the meeting of the Home and Garden Section Monday, February 24, about the interesting struggle by botanists to coordinate the prolific plant life of the present day Holy Land with the plants mentioned in the Bible. The program was arranged by the section chairman, Mrs. C. A. Broaddus.

Mrs. Burde has charge of the biblical garden of the Church of the Wayfarer and tells the interesting story of its establishment and development. Mrs. George Beardsley, a Carmel resident, was traveling in the Holy Land about the time the Church of the Wayfarer was rebuilt in 1940. She came home enthusiastic about developing a biblical garden at the church, and donated the money to make this possible. A small but beautifully cared-for garden was the result. The work was carried on by Mrs. Blanchard Steeves who secured the plants and supervised the garden until it was demolished when the church was enlarged. Then Mrs. Burde took over with practically nothing but a fig tree, an olive tree and a grape vine to start the new garden. Again in 1956 the garden was ruined during construction work with nothing left but sand and eucalyptus. However the University of California and Golden Gate Park have made it possible for Mrs. Burde to gradually acquire new plant materials.

Refreshments will be served after the program. Pouring at the tea table will be Mrs. Rhea Diveley and Mrs. William Eklund. Mrs. Samuel B. Moore, hospitality chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. E. H. Ewig, Mrs. Edward Dwyer, Mrs. Keith Evans, Mrs. Claude Faw, Mrs. Haldane S. Fisher and Mrs. Joseph M. Ewing.

Cub Scouts Win Awards

Awards were given at the February meeting of Cub Scout Pack 3, sponsored by the Lions with Milton Stitt as Packmaster. Before the awards, Mrs. Cunningham's Den 5 opened the meeting with the Flag Ceremony, after which Den 4 was awarded best den at inspection. Mr. Conneau gave the awards for Webelos and spoke briefly and well, telling how each path for Cubs leads to Webelos, and thence to Boy Scouting. Mrs. Lloyd Cunningham, Mrs. Jack Mahoney, and Mrs. A. E. Conneau were awarded their Den Mother's Badge. Mike Beasher received his Den Chief's shoulder card.

The awards for Webelos were as follows: Patrick McGibney, Randy Mapstead, and John Aitken, Webelos; Stephen Trapkus, Webelos and Gold Arrow and two Silver Arrows.

Cub Scout awards given by Mr. Stitt were as follows: Mark Snapkowski, Peter Ruster, John Anzini, Wolf Badge; Eric Low, Craig Cunningham, Dennis Jones, Jim Sparolini, and Gay Swim, Bear Badge; David Erickson, Patrick Woolsey, Wolf, Bear, and Asst. Denner Stripe; Bobby West, Bear and Gold and Silver Arrow; Jeffrey Conneau, Bear and two Gold Arrows and two Silver Arrows; Tim Templeton, Bear and one Year Pin; Garry Connell, Wolf and Gold Arrow; Mark Gockel, Wolf and Bear; Bucky Buquet, Bear and Denner Stripe; George Tjaler, Lion; Michael Cassidy, Bear and Asst. Denner Stripe; Jeff Dinsmore, Wolf and Asst. Denner Stripe; Jack Mahoney, Bear and Denner Stripe and one Year Pin and Silver Arrow; Joseph Anzini, Wolf and Bear.

The Pack ended the meeting by celebrating the 48th year of Boy Scouts of America with a blue and gold birthday cake lit by 48 candles.

Mohlers Leave March 1

Chuck and Hazel Mohler, and their son Chaco, leave March 1 to drive East and then fly to Belgium in time for the opening of the Brussels Fair. Chuck has writing assignments in Europe so the Mohlers have rented their Carmel house for a year, with indefinite plans to remain abroad for that length of time. This week end Richard Chindblom of Darien, Connecticut, Mrs. Mohler's brother-in-law, will be their house guest. He is a script writer for educational films working on a government movie in Berkeley.

Entertain For Fagans

Among those planning parties this week end for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fagan of Burlingame are Colonel and Mrs. Paul S. Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton and Mrs. Henry Potter Russell. The Fagans will be guests at Del Monte Lodge while they are here.

Tomorrow World Prayer Day

The World Day of Prayer service, sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula United Church Women, is at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in All Saints' Episcopal Church. Following the hour's service, those attending will eat the box luncheons they have brought at 12:30, preceding a short business meeting. At 1:30 o'clock the afternoon program, which is identical around the world, will begin.

Mrs. Clarence Lucas has arranged the morning program at which Mrs. Ida Fournoy will sing and Mrs. Carrie M. Short give a prayer. A book report on The Day Thou Gavest will be contributed by Mrs. Richard Nance before a benediction by the Reverend William Eastburn closes the morning session.

During the afternoon program Mrs. Jean Canada will sing. Theme of this session is The Bread of Life. Some of the prayers used have been written by aboriginal women of the central wilds of Australia, adapted from chants of their people. Their petition for "God's love for people of all places in the earth," coincides with the hopes and aspirations of the United Nations and of One World.

Twenty-five thousand communities will join in the world wide observance of tomorrow's seventy-second observance of the World Day of Prayer.

Lindley Stamp Club Speaker

In the absence of Col. John R. Wright, president, Mrs. Nora Law presided over the meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club held Monday in the Carmel High School.

John Marshall Lindley, a distinguished philatelist from Wellesley Hall, Massachusetts, was called on for remarks. Mr. Lindley is the author of books on stamp collecting. He spends his winters in California.

E. R. Blankenship, president of the Monterey Stamp Club, spoke on By-Laws and the Westpex Exhibition. The Association for Western Philatelic Exhibitions, Inc., known as Westpex, plans to bring the large Eastern exhibitors to the West Coast. Two members of the local club, L. S. Stallings and Abott Silva were appointed to consider the pledging of a frame and acting as co-host with the Monterey Stamp Club.

Two new members were welcomed: Oscar H. Korn, recently from Germany and John H. Squier from Del Rey Oaks.

Mrs. L. S. Stallings and Sally Reichard served refreshments.

The next meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club will be an auction to be held in the Carmel High School, at 8:00 o'clock, March 3.

All stamp collectors, their friends and relatives are welcome.

A. Anderson

Alexander Anderson of Carmel Valley was killed on Sunday afternoon when he was thrown from his sports car after it skidded and overturned on the Valley road.

Mr. Anderson was a night auditor for Mark Thomas Inn and had lived in the Valley for three and a half years. He was born in Newcastle, England, on September 12, 1907.

Survivors are his wife, Doris, and sons, Alexander and Roger, all of Carmel Valley; a daughter, Mrs. Alexandra Hood of Oakland; and two sisters and two brothers living in England.

Private funeral services were held on Monday in the Mission Mortuary followed by inurnment at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The fact that all things are possible to God will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural passages in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mind" will include the following from Isaiah (40:28): "Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no searching of his understanding."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (180:25): "When man is governed by God, the ever-present Mind who understands all things, man knows that with God all things are possible. The only way to this living Truth, which heals the sick, is found in the Science of Divine Mind as taught and demonstrated by Christ Jesus."

The Golden Text is from Job (36:5): "Behold, God is mighty, and despiseth not any: he is mighty in strength and wisdom."

Lydia Weld First Woman To Become A Naval Architect

However, she paid no attention to this and often went down in the hold with the men when work had to be done and an order carried out.

Her description of her appearance as she tripped lightly aboard is amusing. "Skirt to my ankles, magenta candle in hand, blueprint under my arm", she would find herself going down inside the uptake by the grab-rods to get to the top of a boiler! In those days a lady had to wear skirts even if she was a lady ship-designer.

When the war ended, Miss Weld had "worked herself ill." So she went to Antelope Valley in Los Angeles County and took up farming. She bought an alfalfa ranch of 320 acres. With characteristic vigor and intensity, she succeeded not only with alfalfa but won no less than 204 ribbons in fruit, grain, poultry and animals. Her array of ribbons includes every color but has a preponderance of blue and the even rarer purple.

As Miss Weld put it, "I have a one-track mind. When I am shipbuilding I am shipbuilding. When I'm ranching I'm ranching".

She was also a director of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau in Antelope Valley and president of the School Board of Antelope Valley Joint Unified High School.

In 1933 Miss Weld decided to retire from ranching. She had had 14 years of it and had a chance to sell the ranch at a profit, so she did so and came to Carmel. At this point, Miss Weld considered herself permanently retired. But then came Pearl Harbor. Her first move was to become a ground observer and her station was Cypress Point where she had a 30 foot tower and took the 4:00 to 8:00 a.m. shift. In December of 1942 we were losing a great many ships on the east coast, and one day there came a report over the air that there was a refresher course in engineering at Stanford.

Miss Weld's reaction was characteristic. "I'd better get back to work in spite of being over 60".

She sent her papers in to Stanford but they were returned "Refused". They explained that the courses were too elementary. She wrote back that she wanted to come anyway. This time they telegraphed their refusal, saying. "It would be a waste of your time". Then she heard that there was a course in airplane design at U.C. She went to Berkeley, took the examination which consisted of 52 questions on drafting and mathematics and got 48 of them right.

The professor said to her, "Why do you want to shift to planes?"

She explained that it had been 24 years since she had done any shipbuilding. He told her she would have no difficulty and gave her a card to Moore's Shipyard in Oakland. By that evening she was hired, and worked there, as senior draftsman, for 30 months, until the war ended in 1945.

Miss Weld had an interesting time at Moore's, she said, although it was hard to get back and forth from work in Oakland in crowded busses where one had to stand and people were packed like sardines. At Moore's they built 15 Navy vessels and 25 C-2 freighters. Miss Weld, who was the only graduate engineer at the shipyard, had a great deal to do with all this, needless to add.

Ships also came into Moore's Drydock for repairs, and she was particularly interested when two or three Russian ships came in. "At noon they would all go up on deck and sing," she relates. "They had lovely voices".

However, they played some very un-nice tricks when they left, such as replacing oil with sea-water on a ship that had been stocked for them.

Miss Weld returned to Carmel when the war was ended and has been here ever since. However, she has not exactly sat around. She joined the League of Women Voters and became its president. She is intensely interested in local civic affairs, and is at the moment absorbed in the Right to Work campaign. She is interested, as a hobby, in philately—that is, stamp collecting. She feels rather strongly about modern education and decries the fact that children nowadays aren't being taught obedience, self-control and to pay attention. She feels that these disciplines are necessary for the meeting of problems in adult life.

It is interesting to note, by the way, that Miss Weld has a twin sister (not an identical twin, however) who, she says, is her exact opposite. The latter graduated as a kindergarten teacher, then went with General Wood to Cuba where she helped set up the school system. General Wood asked her to stay in Cuba but she returned to the United States and got married.

"My twin sister can keep time and can spell and I can't do either", Miss Weld remarked.

Miss Weld never married. "I never had time to get married", she explained. Then, with a smile, she added, "My idea of a marriage is 50-50. But I'm too selfish. I want 100%".

Although one realizes in meeting Miss Weld that she is not young, it is a great surprise to discover she is nearing 80. Active, alert, and mentally succinct and clear to a point that would put most young people to shame, she is a very alive person; her horizons are broad, not narrow or personal; and yet, at the same time, she is not, as she says, aggressive", nor does she seem, despite her life-long preoccupation with masculine activities in any sense masculine. Gracious in manner, she is also modest, and reluctant to talk about herself.

mission meeting, and, in a special meeting the following week framed to be sent to the city council for action on establishing a new sign ordinance. At present an interim sign ordinance exists and violations of excess sign footage of undersirable materials is a commission problem.

"This is an important issue," stated Commissioner Florence Josselyn," these signs are unattractive and not in keeping with Carmel."

Preliminary study was given by planning commissioners yesterday afternoon to alterations to the former Foreign Car Center which is to become Village Electric premises; an addition of five motel units to an existing three units by Sumral Otrich at San Carlos and Third Streets; and a 23 unit motel planned by Richard Catlin on Mission Street between Third and Fourth Avenues. The last plot plan shows landscaping providing for the planting of pine trees, much to the delight of Carmel planning commissioners.

Candidate Asks Friends Not To Vote For Him

Five candidates remain in the running for election to two places on the city council on April 8 since the withdrawal last Friday of Jack Benson, Monterey Herald advertising solicitor and music critic.

Mr. Benson's name will remain on the ballot as a candidate's name cannot legally be removed after he has filed, according to City Clerk Larry Rose.

"Because of urgent personal reasons which have arisen, I now find that I would, if elected, be unable to serve as councilman," Benson said.

"Since it is legally impossible now to withdraw my nomination, I can only ask that people who might wish to support me do not cast their vote for me."

Exciting Melodrama Opens Tomorrow At The First Theatre

Tomorrow night The Road to Frisco will open at the First Theatre in Monterey. The Theatre's new director, Richard Bailey, will present a number of new actors and actresses with Letitia Reynolds in the role of damsel in distress, and love. In private life Mrs. Marshall Williamson, whose husband is on duty at Fort Ord, Letitia has had years of TV experience as actress, singer and pianist. She has made professional appearances on stages across the country and took her certificate in piano at the Ft. Worth, Texas conservatory.

Other members of the cast, carefully chosen for the highly stylized roles are: Bud Stark, Hugh Nelson, Wayne Edwards, Carl Sher, Bob Rasmussen, Woodward Bethea, Madeleine Hicks, and Mary Burton.

In addition to the cast, those appearing in the Olio which follows the play are: Gay Jerajian, Delores Scolet, Ruth Maitre, Gilda Dayton, James Helms, Pat McKnight and Leroy Ottman.

Sets are by Charles Thomas; costumes, Rhoda Johnson; lighting effects, Kay Knudsen; properties, Gilda Dayton, and, at the piano throughout the evening, Miss Susan Lee. Creating high comedy and acting as Master of Ceremonies will be Alex Olivetti.

The Gold Coast Troupers and all productions of the First Theatre of Monterey are under the Dene Denny Management. The Road to Frisco will run Friday and Saturday nights until further notice.

Route 2, Box 385,
Carmel, California
Febraury 1, 1958.

Chairman
Monterey County Board of Supervisors,
Salinas, California.

Dear Sir:

At a recent meeting of the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, much was said about working toward betterment of the Peninsula, but apparently nothing was said about the urgent need for supporting the County Board of Supervisors in their preliminary air pollution control program.

December 13th, the Monterey Peninsula Herald showed a picture of smog over Monterey. A similar photograph could have been shown of smog over Carmel. Smoking incinerators can be seen at almost any time. There is at least one vacant lot which seems to serve as a small neighborhood dump and incinerator. It is by now well-known that the burning of trash and garden cuttings can lead to respiratory illnesses, and when vegetation has been sprayed with any of the highly poisonous agricultural sprays now in use, the burning of such vegetation increases damage to the respiratory organs.

It should be evident to everyone that clean air is more beneficial than dirty air. (A doctor visiting Carmel told me that Carmel has a higher percentage of virus pneumonia than any community in California). With increasing population, we cannot avoid an increase in automobile exhaust, but we can avoid raising smoke in our yards.

Carmel has another problem—the presence in the air on warm days of hydrogen sulphide. Citizens living within range of this asphyxiating gas have stated that last summer's invasion of hydrogen sulphide was the worst in their experience. Persons who have taken the trouble to investigate the situation are convinced that sewage is seeping into the Bay from Pebble Beach, maybe through ancient sewer pipes. Pebble Beach is said to be well-provided with septic tanks. I know of a farm where a well tended septic tank had to be moved to another location because the effluents were contaminating a neighbor's water supply. Something similar could be happening at Pebble Beach. It has been said that Pebble Beach is less in need of a new hospital than a modern sewage disposal plant. It seems unnecessary to mention the possible deterioration in real estate values should air pollution increase.

It is to be hoped that the Board of Supervisors will try to determine the source of contamination by employing those scientists who made the study of hydrogen sulphide concentrations at the southern end of San Francisco Bay for the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District last September.

I am enclosing a map which shows the section where hydrogen sulphide has been noticed; also, other pertinent enclosures.

Sincerely yours,

Mrs. George D. McLaughlin

Enclosures: The map shows section immediately north of Carmel where raw sewage has been noticed. Also, presence of hydrogen sulphide at Carmel and Asilomar.

CU Says No But Not Very Vigorously To Annexation To City

Returns of a straw vote ballot sent out by Carmel Unincorporated to residents in the unincorporated area around Carmel were counted this week by Captain Archer M. R. Allen, president of CU and his committee. Results: The majority of those who returned cards do not want to annex to Carmel (yes 219; no 288), the majority of those who do not want to annex want to have a fire district combined with Carmel's fire department (yes 249; no 124); an independent fire district got a strong no response (yes 62; no 128), and a lot of the voters preferred the status quo (yes 211; no 130).

Captain Allen said the vote in favor of annexation to Carmel was stronger than he expected but he does not think annexation should be pursued further for the present. Better fire protection is necessary, he insists, and he will have petitions ready to pass at a general meeting of Carmel Unincorporated soon to get fifty signers asking the county supervisors to call an election for an independent fire district.

"We hope this independent district can be combined with the Carmel fire department later," he said.

A former fire district election failed, "because we did not set a tax limit", Captain Allen thinks. This time there will be a 50 cent tax limit and a district board of five instead of three members.

Theresa Hill

Private funeral services were held this afternoon in All Saints' Episcopal Church for Theresa Hill, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cortland Hill of Big Sur and Beverly Hills, who drowned in the family swimming pool in the latter city on Sunday. The Reverend Angus Dun, Jr., officiated. Burial took place in El Carmelo Cemetery, Pacific Grove.

In addition to her parents, Theresa is survived by a younger brother, James. Her grandfather, the late Louis Hill, maintained a home in Pebble Beach for many years. Her parents own the former Harry Hunt ranch at Big Sur and divide their time between the ranch and their Beverly Hills home.

Beverly Is Second Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hunnicut's second daughter, Beverly Lynn, was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on February 9 with a birth weight of six pounds, ten ounces. She has a sister, Barbara, 16 months old. For the past year Beverly's father has been an engineer with Firestone Engineering Laboratory. Her grandfather, James B. Hunnicut of Redwood City, came to Carmel on Sunday to meet his newest grandchild.

"Get Up Girls"

Terry Shames and Durell Decker started waking up a group of high school friends on Saturday morning at 6:30 o'clock and continued their rounds until 9:30 o'clock, adding a new arouser at each home, until they had gathered together all the guests for their "come as you are" breakfast party at Terry's home. Parents of the girls were alerted beforehand by Terry and Durell and were able to join in the fun of the unanticipated awakenings.
